C. FRANK PAGE,

Report of School Board.

To the citizens of the town of Gilmanton, the school board respectfully submit their annual report.

The number of schools maintained the past year has been practically the same as last year, twelve. Namely, Iron Works, Lougeetown, Guinea Ridge, Gale, Kelley, Potter, Smith Meeting House, Pond, Corner, Jones' Mills, Allen's Mills and Sanborn. Number of different teachers employed during the year has been sixteen. Whole number of scholars attending not less than two weeks, 187. Average attendance, 159.

GENERAL CONDITION.

The same problem that confronted your school board last year still seems to be the great obstacle to success in our schools.

We have during the past year supported four schools, with five pupils or less to each school. It costs just as much to maintain one of these small schools as it does one containing twelve or fourteen scholars. While the cost per pupil per week in the small school is three times as great, as it is in the larger being $1.63 in the one case and only $0.53 in the other. We believe some of these small schools should be united with some other school, when such a consolidation can be made without too great inconvenience to those concerned. There seems to be, however, a great reluctance on the part of parents to work in harmony with your school board in bringing about this result.

The idea seems to be, that if a school in any particular locality is discontinued that locality has lost some value, which in all probability can never be recovered. This opinion to a certain extent perhaps is true. But if your children are to be the gainers by being placed in a larger and pleasanter school, and under the care of a thoroughly competent teacher, isn't the extra effort which would be required worth the while? Certain it is that most children lose interest in one of these small schools, neither can experienced teachers be found who care to take such a school.

Although we have done all in our power to secure suitable teachers for all of our schools, the small salary we were able to offer has in some cases rendered this an almost hopeless task.

The increased cost of living and high scale of wages now paid all classes of employees has inevitably led to an increase of teachers' salaries also. How then can we expect to secure the services of the best teachers if we are not prepared to pay them as much as they can obtain in other towns?

True economy consists in expending our money to the best possible advantage. What greater advantage can we possibly give our children than a good education. At the present day every uneducated child enters the race for a livelihood with a very heavy handicap. To economize too much in school appropriations is to defraud the children of our town of their rightful heritage, viz: a good education. Therefore, to withhold the amount needed to secure the best instructors for our children, is not economy but the grossest extravagance. They can be young but once, and if they fail then to obtain a good practical education they have missed something that cannot be replaced except at a cost of money and time in later life, so great that few attempt it.

We, therefore, most earnestly entreat you to make a substantial increase in your appropriation for school purposes for the coming year. Such an increase would do much to increase the efficiency of our schools. It would enable us to retain some teachers who otherwise would go elsewhere in order to secure larger salaries. It would also greatly lessen the difficulty of obtaining the services of competent experienced teachers from other localities when desired.

We also greatly desire the hearty co-operation of all parents with the teachers, as this does much for the success of the school.

We are glad to note an improvement in the percentage of attendance this year. There is however still much to be desired along this line. Perhaps one who has never been a teacher cannot fully realize just how much injury is done a child by permitting him to miss even a few days in each term. This is a particular injury to the child who "hates to go to school," as such a child will seldom pick up the dropped stitches to which such absences may be compared. Dropped stitches unfortunately both weaken and render unsightly the fabric in which they occur. We ask you, therefore, to send the children to school every day if possible.

Another essential thing for the welfare of the child is the early formation of habits of promptness and punctuality. A dilatory man or woman is seldom successful in life. Try, then, to encourage habits of punctuality in your children by sending them to school in due season. Some of our school registers record scarcely a case of tardiness—others show a most lamentable state of affairs, some pupils having been almost invariably tardy.

We wish also to refer to the deplorable habit of parents criticizing unfavorably the teacher in the presence of the pupils. This invariably militates against good discipline in school and in the interest of the children should give place to the manifestation by the parents of a sincere desire to assist rather than retard the teacher's work. Cultivate in the minds of the children the idea that they should show all due respect for law and order as indicated by the teacher, regardless of their own individual preferences. Give due emphasis to the fact, that while it is the teacher's function to teach, the pupils themselves must learn. "There is no royal road to learning" and no matter how good the equipment of a school, or how competent and conscientious the teacher may be, that school cannot be a complete success unless each pupil by his or her own individual efforts improve the opportunity thus given for the acquirement of knowledge. Frequent visits to the school by parents and friends of the pupils do much to cheer and encourage both teacher and pupils.
